The Chronicle Established in 1808 or 1809.

The first newspaper published in Clarksville was in the year 1808 or 1809. It was the Clarksville Chronicle, published by George Crutcher and another, whose name is not remembered. George Crutcher was a son of Anthony Crutcher, who was clerk of our County court from 1791 to 1794. These facts were given to Mr. Goodpasture, who is preparing material for his forthcoming history of Montgomery county, by Mrs. Rachel Herring of Pea Ridge, Mrs. Herring is a daughter of Bryan Whitfield, and was born in this county in 1790, and has lived here ever since. She is well preserved and has a most wonderful memory. She informed Mr. Goodpasture that her uncle, with whom she lived, subscribed for the Chronicle for her when it was first started, and that she has been a reader of it regularly ever since.

Our Schools.

The numerous and excellent schools of this city all commence work next week. They are well entitled to the liberal support of the community, for nothing contributes more to the well-being of this city than its enviable reputation for education.

The annual report of the public schools is now being prepared for publication in this office and will appear next week. It manifests a high degree of prosperity in our school system. One item is the commencement of a tenth grade, which is one step higher than has previously been attained. A feature in the curriculum for this and the ninth grade is a regular course of instruction in the constitution and other permanent institutions of the United States. It is the determination of the board, with which the superintendent co-operates, that no scholar shall receive the honors of the school who does not know what the constitution is and what it is for.

We are glad to learn that history and political science have received careful attention in the University also, and that constitutional law is carefully analyzed under that head. This is well. We need a generation of young men who know their political rights, and "knowing dare maintain."

Prof. Quarles is converting his place on Main street into a school building at once compact and commodious. He will be ready for students, male and female, by next Monday.

Prof. Broadhurst is making large additions to the buildings of the Broadhurst Institute, and will be ready for business on Monday.

We have only to add that the Female Academy and the University, open on Wednesday, Sept. 1st.

Public Schools.

Pupils who expect to attend the Public Schools for the first time this year are requested to meet the Superintendent on Saturday, the 28th inst., at 2 o'clock p. m., in the High school building, that they may be graded, classified and furnished with a list of books needed. If their parents could accompany them it would be well, that they may be posted in the system. Pupils who were examined at the close of the session will not report until Monday morning at 8 o'clock which is the time for opening the schools, both white and colored.

Teachers of the Howell School are requested to meet the Superintendent at his office to-day (Saturday) at 4 o'clock, p. m.

All colored children who expect to attend school this year will report at the colored school house at 8 a. m., Monday the 30th inst.

Bring Flowers, Gay Flowers.

Our sanctum continues to be bright and fragrant with floral tributes. One large bouquet was the result of a pleasant visit paid by us to the residence of R. F. Ferguson, Esq., and was arranged by the skillful hands of his daughter, Miss L. Ferguson, the perfume of which still haunts us with grateful memories of the fair donor. The other 4 from the garden of Josh. Rice, Esq., the prince of florists, and the one presented by Mrs. Rice. It forms a perfect parterre of everything sweet and beautiful, surmounted with a flaming coronal of gladioli.

Now Comes the Turn of War.

On Thursday all the county will be in town to hear the two candidates for governor make their speeches. One thing only we will predict of this great contest, that all three of the outsiders, better, greenback and radical; will fire all their big guns at the regular democratic nominee and let one another alone. Yes, one thing more, and that is that not one of them will make much of John V. Wright.

Willie Phillips, carrier of the Nashville Banner, lost his route book a few days ago.

He is a very partial list of last week's doings. The finder will confer a favor on a clever boy, by leaving the book at the post-office.

Mr. McCormick, of the firm of McCormick & Sweeney, was in our city several days ago.

He is a Democratic nominee for the legislature in Indiana. Of the outlook for the democracy in that State, he speaks in the most hopeful terms. He says the democracy and English will carry the State by a majority of ten thousand votes.

The Greatest Show is Coming.

"The one thing that is drawing the people to the Sells Brothers is that they do all they advertise," says the Cleveland (O.) Sunday Voice, of Sells Brothers' Millionaire Confederation of Stupendous Railroad Shows, which is to exhibit, in all its overshadowing vastness, at Clarksville, Tenn., on Saturday, September 11. And this high compliment is paid by a first-class newspaper, to an exhibition, made up of such prizes, exclusive, rare and great predominating features, as a $200,000 herd of Elephants, the largest ever seen in parade; two $57,000 full-grown, living Hippopotami, the only pair ever imported; a $50,000 Aquarium of huge Sea Lions; the only $18,000 drive of performing Colorado Cattle; the only $22,000 two-horned, hairy Rhinoceros, which transmute into, it will be remembered, nearly demolished a locomotive at Pittsburgh, Pa.; the only $25,000 Willis Cobb Miniature Circus; the only King Sarbo's Royal Japanese Circus; the only genuine $30,000 sixty horse-power Electric Light and Motor, exhibited both afternoon and evening; the only tribe of Ute Chiefs and Braves, who appear at each performance in a wild and thrilling equestrian drama, expressly arranged for the occasion, graphically illustrating the savage onslaughts and single combats of border warfare; and the only complete collection of wild beast and birds, more of them than were ever before exhibited. Last, but by no means least, comes the whole world's first barbed rider, the great and only James Robinson, associated with none but male and female barbed equestrians of note, and a grand company of the best performers in every gymnastic art and act. All preceded each morning by a gigantic public procession of the elephants, chariots, three bands, tableaux cars and a hundred superb and sensational features.

"The absence of all gambling schemes was a noticeable feature," says the Hastings (Neb.) Journal, which is due to the fact that the Messrs. Sells rent no privileges, manage their vast show in person, and demand that the authorities shall do their duty in protecting the public from swindlers. To cap the sheet, they permit no peddling of any kind within their tents, and do not suffer their patrons to be importuned or annoyed in any way. Such truthfulness, honesty and courtesy, combined with such true greatness, of course, wins everywhere, and will do so here, to the tune of thousands.

A Barbecue Right.

Social gatherings and political speaking by our leading statesmen are eminently proper and profitable, but the history of looking on barbecues to such occasions, without previous notice, has given rise to much complaint among Christian people, and has caused many to decide to stay away from such places altogether. But the barbecue at William's Chapel, the 21st inst., was conducted upon principles of perfect fairness. Ed. Williams and his coadjutors have placed a large community, including the Christian element, under obligations to them for a most delightful and profitable entertainment, minus the barndance. And such a dinner as we had! A table for the ladies, a table for the young men, a table for the old men—all groaning under well-seasoned and well-barbecued meats, the best quality of corn and flour bread, and sliced water-melons as thick as hops from end to end and on both sides of every table. The large multitude present were fed bountifully and in an orderly manner. Several neighboring churches were present, and a smile of satisfaction rested upon the faces of all present.

Ed. Williams was master of ceremonies.

Ed. Williams was master of ceremonies, the very place which nature designed him for, though he thinks he was "cut out" for a steamboat captain, and was well long ubiquitous, looking to the interest of everyone on the ground. Every community needs just such a man. Of large heart, liberal views and honest principles, he is the soul of honor and a—but I must pause lest he blush himself away. And such a dinner as we had!
